ERRATUM

Re: CC Docket 93-129

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
OFFICE OF SECRETARY

Dear Mr. Caton:

On February 22, 1994, NYNEX changed the amount it claims as exogenous costs underlying its 800 database rates. On April 15, 1994, MCI Telecommunications Corporation (MCI) submitted its Comments in CC Docket 93-129 pursuant to the Commission's 800 Designation Order¹. In the appendices to MCI's Comments, MCI adjusted its analysis to reflect NYNEX's revised costs from its February filing. On page 39 of MCI's Comments, MCI also changed the total amount of SMS charges from $11 million to $10.5 million to incorporate these changes.

MCI shows (also on page 39) that the RBOCs will be charged only $6.7 million for the services performed for them by DSMI and Bellcore. Thus, MCI demonstrates that there is a difference between what the LECs will charge ratepayers ($10.5 million) and what the LECs will be charged for SMS ($6.7 million). This difference should have been shown as $3.8 million.

However, it has been brought to my attention that, due to administrative error, the original difference ($4.3 million) between $11 million and $6.7 million was not adjusted to reflect the reduction in NYNEX's proposed costs. Thus, "$3.8 million" should be substituted for "$4.3 million" on pages 39 and 40 of MCI's Comments.

Sincerely,

Carol Schultz
Its Attorney
